Waters Sweep Down on Hillside Street Construction

THE FLOOD HIT right in the middle of construction at Hillside and Price street. Installation of a new catch basin was underway here when the rains hit. Ground beneath the sidewalk at this point was partially eaten away by erosion, but the situation was repaired when the flood waned.

Torrents Rush Down Slopes of Broadmoor

AN UNWANTED WASHING was given this car parked on MacArthur street in Broadmoor. Streams nearly a foot deep rushed down the hillside gutters in the Broadmoor district but minor erosion was the only damage reported.

Man-Hole Cover Thrown Off by Torrent

ARTIFICIAL WELL bubbles up at Templeton and Mission streets as sewers become full, forced manhole cover off. Water flowed out of the hole for about 10 minutes, causing business houses below it some alarm as water swirled dangerously near door.

Heavy Rains Drench City -- Damage Slight

GUTTERS FILL RAPIDLY BUT DRAINAGE REPORTED GOOD

Heavy winds and torrential rains swept over the Bay Area early this week but Daly City fared better than most county areas in escaping heavy property damage and flooding.

Winds, estimated at over 40 miles per hour struck here and more than an inch of rainfall fell, pushing the city's drainage facilities to their limit.

Little Broadmoor Damage

In the Broadmoor area, where residents have been plagued by lack of drainage facilities in past years, damage was reported negligible.

Dan Andersen, city administrator, reported that areas hardest hit by the rains were at School street and at Mission and Valley streets.

Although gutters were running strong at about a foot deep in many areas and manhole covers were forced off some sewers, Andersen reported at 3 p.m. Monday that the run-off had been good and nearly all areas were well drained.

Older Areas Hit

Andersen said that some erosion took place in Broadmoor but added that the older areas of Daly City were hardest hit.

The heavy rains again brought up the subject of formation of a north county drainage district. Jim McKay, president of the Broadmoor Property Owners' association, said that although the idea had been put forth, he thought the district would not be necessary. He said in Broadmoor it was mainly the residents in the low area that had needed drainage and they are now taken care of.

He said the Broadmoor area had received cooperation from the county and the Stoneson Development company in warding off the flood problem.

The fire department was called out to King's Market to unplug a drain which had backed up water to a depth of 2½ feet.

Lift Roof

The high winds lifted the roof off the Maple Shop near the high school and did damage estimated

DROWNED YOUTH'S PARENTS FILE SUIT FOR $150,000

The parents of Ronald Grimesey, 17-year-old youth who drowned July 31 in the waters of an artificial pond in the Crocker Hills area, filed suit for $150,000 against the Crocker Estate in San Francisco Superior court yesterday.

Charles and Mae Grimesey, 29 Blythdale, San Francisco, who are represented by Harold C. Brown, attorney, charge that the owners of the property were negligent in maintaining a pumping system and that the pond constituted an attractive nuisance.

Young Grimesey's tragic death followed closely on the drowning of another 17-year-old youth, Larry Swaze, just three months earlier.

It is stated in the claim that Grimesey had assisted in the support of his parents. His father is a San Francisco fireman.

Largest Check of Vehicles Is Made By Local Police

A total of 84 drivers were issued for mechanical defects on their vehicles last week in the largest road block ever held in Daly City.

The block, supervised by Officer Henry Sunderman, with the aid of Officer Les Bastedo and eight auxiliary officers, was held Nov. 26 from 8 p.m. until midnight on Mission street between Vista and Aip streets.

Faulty lights were found on 64 autos, while citations listed for other defects were: inadequate drivers license, 7; license plates not displayed, 10; defect in windshield wipers, 2; drunk in auto, 1.

Sundermann said that 731 cars were stopped during the check.

He explained that none of the notices given, with the exception of the drunken driving charge, required appearance in court.

The motorist must merely correct whatever officers listed as defective, and notify police of the correction, Sundermann said.

Sundermann explained that purpose of the blocks is not to pin citations on as many drivers as possible, but to correct all minor violations for the motorist's benefit.

"Drivers shouldn't fear road blocks," the officer said. "In fact, they should attempt to pass through them so that they can have their autos checked."

He also advised that those not stopped in the block conduct a safety check of their own. He suggested that the following basic items be checked: headlights, tail lights, license plate lights, windshield wipers, brakes, operator's license, registration in car.

Further blocks will be held during the coming holidays, Sundermann said.

Funds Are Needed For Use of Center

SPECIAL MEETING SLATED TUESDAY

The recreation commission met last week to outline some plan of action for use of the Community Center but wound up the meeting "still up in the air," according to Elman Rose, director.

Rose said no projects could be launched until funds were available. He explained that the building is not ready for use and will not be until a time when further expenditures are made.

Mayor Anthony Gaggero announced that he has made a study of the budget and finds that approximately $10,000 could be channelled for use on the Center. However, he said, "this amount would not be sufficient to take care of even preliminary needs."

The mayor said he planned to make a further study to see if more money could be alotted from the general fund.

He explained that by using money budgeted for other less urgent matters and by economizing in other finance categories it might be possible to realize a larger amount than the estimated $10,000 figure.

Gaggero said the council hoped to set aside enough money to take care of landscaping and completion of the main auditorium.

Rose pointed out that the bulk of requests for use of the center are from organizations wishing to utilize the space for meeting rooms. He expressed hope that facilities could be installed to enable use of the building by these organizations.

"We hope to find how we stand financially Tuesday night," the director said. He explained a special meeting on the center would be held then and said the council probably would be represented by someone at the gathering.

Rose said he thought the landscaping was secondary, since use of the building was of first importance.

However, Rose pointed out, he would not start any definite program since the new recereation director, James Mason, will take over duties Dec. 15.

LOCAL CHAMBER MEMBERSHIP IS MORE THAN 100

Daly City's Chamber of Commerce, which now boasts more than 100 charter members, met yesterday for a luncheon meeting at Lake Merced Gold and Country club.

Mayor Anthony Gaggero talked on Daly City, its past, present, and future expansion in store for the area.

The newly revived organization's membership campaign is still underway and will extend through January 1.

At yesterday's meeting a nominating committee was selected to recommend a roster of directors. The nominating committee is slated to submit its recommendations at the next meeting, Dec. 16. Other nominations may also be made besides those recommended by the committee. Election of the directors will take place at the first meeting in January.

ARRAIGNMENT TODAY ON MOLESTING COUNT

Louis Williams, 427 Niantic avenue, was scheduled to be arraigned in Judge William Sweeney's Justice court this morning at 10 a.m. on charges of molesting an 11-year-old child.

The complaint, filed Wednesday by the victim's father, said that on or about August 28 Williams had committed lewd acts with his young daughter.

Williams paid his $2500 bail personaly Wednesday night and was released.

Board of Trustees Meeting Date Is Changed to Dec. 18

The December meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District was moved to Thursday, Dec. 18, at the November meeting of the board held on Thursday, Nov. 25.

Bids for reroofing the storm damaged area of the Westlake school roof were opened. Seven firms had submitted bids. The contract was awarded the Amalgamated Construction Company of Oakland, who submitted the low bid of $913.00.

The Gateway Chevrolet Company, 7400 Mission street, submitted a bid of $1587.60 for a ¾ ton Chevrolet truck and was awarded the contract.

A contract for maintenance of the lawns, shrubs and other gardening was awarded the Abbey Homestead Nursery.

A meeting on Dec. 9 was established for opening bids for the development of the Crocker school playgrounds.

The board authorized the payment of $6,000 for Parcel No. 2 of property purchased by agreement from Henry Doelger, Inc. The property is located in Westlake No. 6.

A resolution of intention to convey property and a resolution authorizing execution of deed were passed by the Board to transfer a small parcel of property to the County of San Mateo for right-of-way purposes in relation to the Garden Village site.

Eleven holidays for classified personnel were approved as ac-

"JEFF" MARTIN SERVICES HELD HERE WEDNESDAY

Thomas Jefferson Martin, or "Jeff" as he was known to his many local acquaintainces, passed away at Mills Memorial hospital Sunday at the age of 49.

One of the owners of the Hilltop Cab Co., Martin had lived in Daly City for 25 years. His address at the time of death was 57 Hillcrest, where he had recently completed building a new home after moving from 275 Los Olivos..

He is survived by his wife, Beverley; a son, Kenneth M.; two brothers, John F., of Daly City and Sgt. Claude Leroy Martin who is in Korea; a sister, Mrs. Veta Young, San Francisco; his father, Samuel William Martin of Daly City; and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning from W. C. Lasswell & Co. and interment was at Olivet Memorial park.

New Westlake Board Starts Study on Tax

Following closely on the election of the new board of directors for the Westlake Property Owners' association, a motion was passed by the board to launch a protest and investigation into the high county tax assessment placed on the Westlake community.

The newly-elected board named a committee, to be headed by Frank Curry, assistant secretary, which will make a study of the assessment. According to Al Desmond, who was chosen president of the association Tuesday, the group will also tie in with the San Mateo County Taxpayers' association in an effort to study the problem.

Curry said he would gather all his data first before making any

Job Goes Begging At City Council Caucus

The City Council met in a caucus session Monday night to interview four men for a street maintenance position.

The only catch was—none of the interviewees showed up.

City Administrator Dan Andersen said applicants will be given one more chance at the $281.22 a month job.

This was the second interview session scheduled in which none of the interested parties showed.

Re-organization Of Merchants Won't Affect Local C. of C.

Re-organization of the Merchants Association, which has been underway here the past two weeks, shouldn't act in confliction with the Chamber of Commerce, according to William Kennedy, president of the chamber.

Kennedy said the recently revived Chamber of Commerce is now strong enough so that a similar organization wouldn't hurt its progress.

However, he said, "It seems funny that they are getting started again just as we are underway."

Kennedy said he believed a Chamber of Commerce was more important to a community than a Merchants' Association because the former could accomplish more from a civic standpoint.

Some misunderstanding developed recently between the two organizations when the association's president, Frank Lombardi, offered to turn the funds of the defunct organization over to the chamber. Recently, however, the association has been reorganized and there was some doubt as to donation of the funds.

Ted Hopman said the association has met for the past two weeks but added he had nothing to report as yet. He indicated that the association's plans would be revealed in about a week.

Slate Sewage Plant Report at Board Meet

Overall report on preliminary tests made at the site proposed for the primary type sewage treatment plant here is expected to be submitted Monday at 2 p.m. in the council chambers when the board members of the sewage district meet.

Complete report of Harry Jenks, engineer for the district, will probably not be ready at that time, however, the board reports.

A report from Jenks must be submitted to the board and approved before the bond issue for constructing the plant, estimated to cost $600,000, can be placed on the ballot.

Drilling done at the site has revealed the water level to be only

ACCIDENT VICTIM IS STILL IN HOSPITAL

A 31-year-old Daly City resident is still in critical condition at Community hospital following a traffic accident last week.

Vernon Segelke, 112 Santa Barbara avenue, suffered a possible fractured skull and a severe head laceration, according to attendants at the hospital.

The accident occurred on Hillside boulevard at F street in Colma. Segelke's sedan was southbound when he apparently lost control of the auto. It plunged off the road, overturned, and came to rest on the lawn of Mt. Olivet cemetery.

DECISION ON CAB CO. APPLICATION TO BE DELAYED

Final decision on the application of the Westlake Cab Co. for operation here wil be delayed pending full inspection of the Hilltop Cab Co.'s records.

The Hilltop Cab Co., which maintained at a public hearing recently that two taxi companies couldn't operate here at a fair profit to both, offered its books for inspection.

However, death of Thomas "Jeff" Martin, one of the owners of the Hilltop company, has caused some delay in decision on the matter.

ORDER STOP TO HULL BURNING

On complaint of 89 residents of the Daly City, Colma, Broadmoor, and San Bruno areas, burning of rice hulls in the San Pedro district was ordered stopped by County Health Director Harold Chope Tuesday night.

Residents complained of the vile acid smell which emanated from the burning hulls. The ashes of the hulls were used in the manufacture of soap.

Roderick I. McLellan, secretary of the W. E. McLellan nurseries, Colma, appeared before the board of supervisors Tuesday and demanded that the burning be stopped. He said the acid fumes had resulted in loss of $4500 worth of his firm's orchids.

Those protesting burning of the hulls said the fumes settled in the fog and made an unbearable odor throughout a large area.

Woman With Bullet in Brain Dies

LIVES 48 HOURS; FORMER DALY CITY RESIDENT IS HELD

Mrs. Eugenia Hegwood, 45, died Sunday at San Francisco hospital 48 hours after she was shot allegedly by Chester Lewis, 48, formerly of this city, at the Hegwood home, 216 Harbor road, Hunters Point.

Lewis is being held by police pending completion of the investigation. The house painter was arrested by San Francisco police, armed with tear gas and shotguns, Saturday in a Turk street hotel room. He lived here at 275 Station street until a month ago.

Lewis, father of six children, had admitted shooting Mrs. Hegwood Friday night after she refused to elope with him, police said. Doctors said the bullet passed through her head and came out the right cheek.

San Francisco police arrested Lewis Saturday morning after crashing down the door of his hotel room. Lewis had vowed to "take a copper" with him and promised he would not be taken alive, according to police.

The officers captured Lewis before he awoke. He was sleeping with a loaded .32 calibre automatic pistol and two clips of bullets at his side, they said.

Police said that at 9 o'clock Friday night Lewis allegedly called at Mrs. Hegwood's home to ask her to go to Portland with him. When she told him she couldn't because of illness, Lewis ordered Mrs. Hegwood's daughter, Donna, 15 to leave.

Thinking her mother "could handle the situation" the daughter left with some friends.

Mrs. Hegwood was telephoning a friend shortly before 11 p.m., police said, when Lewis apparently took the gun from his pocket, reached over and shut off the telephone, shot Mrs. Hegwood through the head, then left the house, according to police.

The bullet entered Mrs. Hegwood's right temple, passed through the frontal lobe of her brain and emerged through the left cheek bone, doctors said. She lived two days with the bullet in her brain.

After the shooting Daly City officers were alerted to check his former home here. Local police learned Lewis had moved a month ago to 307 First street, San Francisco. His wife died a year ago.

Mrs. Hegwood is survived by three children and her estranged husband, Louis, a shipyard worker.

New Directors of Westlake Improvement Association Meet

FIRST MEETING of the new Westlake Improvement association's directors was held Tuesday night and officers were chosen. Shown here (left to right) are: Archie Lombardi, assistant treasurer; Frank Curry, assistant treasurer; William Ziegler, treasurer; Al Desmond, president; Joseph Toboni, vice president; Linwood Frates, secretary; and Howard Dunbar, sergeant at arms. All except Lombardi and Curry, who were appointed, were elected Monday night by voters of the association to serve as directors for the coming year.

statement as to the association's first overt plan of action.

Basic complaint of the Westlake property owners is that their homes were assessed as new structures and at the same time came in for the blanket 50 per cent raise in county assessments.

Tuesday night's meeting was the first for the newly elected board of directors. Monday night the Westlake voters installed the following men to the board of five: Desmond, 207 votes; Joseph Toboni, 196 votes; Linwood Frates, 191 votes; William Ziegler, 190 votes; and Howard Dunbar, 148 votes.

Voters in every case, with the exception of Dunbar, followed the recommendations of the nominating committee made earlier. Others nominated from the floor who failed to make the grade were; Charles Becker, Starr Dunham and Archie Lombardi.

Tuesday night the board selected its officers. In addition to Desmond, president, officers are: Toboni, vice president; Frates, secretary; Ziegler, treasurer; Dunbar, sergeant at arms.

Lombardi was appointed to serve as assistant treasurer.

between $100 and $200.

Local firemen were also summoned to an establishment at 6207 Mission where the drain had been blocked up and water threatened to flood the back of the store. The fire department opened up the drain and little damage was done.

The police department reported few calls during the storm, although several burglar alarms were set off by the heavy wind.

ceptable by the board. The list includes New Years Day, Lincoln's Birthday, Washington's Birthday, Good Friday, Memorial Day, Admission Day, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas.

A report from the home teacher was read. Pupils who are absent from school for extended periods of time and who receive the approval of their family doctor are entitled to receive the services of a home teacher.

H. Z. Weibel, superintendent, reported on a conference of business officials in Berkeley which was attended by the superintendent, Mr. Aronson, business manager, and Miss Lee Bingman, bookkeeper for the district.

A detailed report of the activities of the physical education coordinator was read. The work of Mr. Huajardo, coordinator, was reported as having decidedly improved the physical education instruction being given in the schools.

A letter of resignation from Mrs. Mignon Scherer, first grade teacher, was read and the resignation accepted.

One Man's Efforts

A young South San Franciscan was resting in city prison last week after allegedly staging a one-man riot in a tavern in the wee hours of the morning and inflicting $2000 worth of damage before he was subdued by two police officers, the bartender and the owner.

About 2 a.m. Saunders, identified by police as a parolee from Arizona state prison, walked meekly from the place after being asked, along with other customers, to leave at the closing time.

A few minutes later a plate glass window in front was crashed in.

When the toll was taken it was found two plate glass windows were kicked in, every mirror in the place was broken, numerous bottle were smashed, tables were overturned and two cash registers were wrecked. This all allegedly happened when Saunders began throwing the 17 bar stools.

ten feet below the surface.

James Kennedy, secretary of the board, said that while this was a good indication as far as water supply goes, it will mean that the digester and clarifier tanks must be installed at a more shallow depth than was originally planned.

Otherwise, he said, the possibility of contaminating the water might exist.

The issue is expected to be submitted to the voters of the district, encompassing Daly City and Colma, about the latter part of January.

SSF Police Probe

Antonio Gaudio, attorney for Charles Johnston, suspended police offcer, Monday night asked that his client not be fired, but be suspended or fined and asked that an investigation of the police department be held in connection with training and shortage of personnel.

Two-thirds Civilian Defense Groups Use Identification

A tabulation of responses from directors of more than two-thirds of the city and county Civil Defense organizations of California revealed some interesting data on types of identification being used by volunteer workers in local areas.

A majority of CD directors indicated that armbands are being used by police and fire auxiliaries, wardens, rescue workers and others.

In 93 city and county organizations armbands are in use, although in some places, particularly in target areas, helmets are provided for fire and police auxiliaries and warden and rescue services.

While 44 city and county directors indicated the use of uniforms, most are limited to law enforcement volunteers—either police or sheriff's auxiliaries, and in a few instances by fire auxiliaries, rescue workers or wardens.

CD identification cards are in wide use and in about half of the cities and counties which responded to the questionnaire, the ID card is the only means of identification provided.

A total of 37 communities said helmets are in use by volunteers in various services. Few have buttons or shoulder patches.

While 74 city and county directors replied that as yet no means of identification have been furnished, the preponderance of these replies—60 out of the 74—were from areas in support regions.

Only 14 city or county CD organizations in target areas have thus far failed to provide some means of identification.

Dissention in Ranks

San Bruno City Councilman William Maurer let it be known at the last meeting of that city's council that he wishes the removal of City Manager Matt W. Slankard.

Maurer, in a letter to the council, said he had looked for the city manager's application among the files and couldn't find it.

"In the course of my investigation," Maurer said, "I discovered that all of the applications were missing. Let's dig them up."

The city's mayor, Claude Fourie, said he had been in possession of the applications but had misplaced them somewhere.

Don't Let Death Intervene This Christmas

Whether by the diligence of local traffic officers or through sheer providence Daly City has escaped thus far having any fatal traffic accidents.

However, the national safety council has announced that daily traffic death toll during the Christmas holiday season is usually slightly more than twice the annual daily average. Family gatherings and other festivities of the year-end holiday season bring the peak travel of the winter—and when more cars are on the move there is more chance of an accident.

Here in Daly City fog and early darkness combine to add up to poor visibility.

These factors, plus rain-soaked streets, combined with the heavy use of spirits in the yuletide fashion all total danger to every citizen.

Yet, therein lies the problem. The attitude is almost universally that of "Oh, it can't happen to me."

That is the reason the endless reams of warnings issued by the state highway patrol, the national safety council and other organizations are of little avail—the reader always thinks the articles are referring to some other vague character who has an affinity for getting in accidents.

We believe ,though, that recounting of an incident which happened near here recently and was told to THE RECORD might put some reality into this nebulous thing, the traffic accident.

A working man had stopped off at a tavern to enjoy a couple of beers before going home. He was talking with the barkeep when suddenly an ambulance wailed by. The customer commented that "Someone wouldn't be enjoying their Thanksgiving."

Ten minutes later this same man's son rushed into the establishment to inform the father that his daughter had been hit by a car—that same ambulance was the one rushing to her aid.

Incidents similar to this happen every day throughout the country but they are not real to the individual until he has experienced them.

But getting the experience is a heavy price to pay. Handle lives with care and don't let death take your holiday.

Who Sets the Limit on Business?

It is common knowledge that Daly City is expanding at a galloping pace. Yet even in the face of this expansion some continue to cling to yesterday's ideas.

A cab company has applied for a permit to operate in the Westlake area.

We believe the company has every right to operate here in the spirit of free enterprise.

At a public hearing held recently on the cab company's application it was argued that taxi business here did not warrant the operation of two companies.

But who is the arbiter that says how much business there is here?

If this were a widespread economic philosophy a lot of businessmen might have said, "There is no further market here," and gone on their way to more fertile grounds.

The only blanket statement that can be made regarding a market is that it has a maximum. But few enterprises would be so bold as to say they had exhausted any single market.

It was also argued at the public hearing that if one more cab license was granted there might be no end to the number of applicants seeking to operate here.

That would imply the fact that there are droves of cab drivers just waiting to throw down 10 or 20,000 dollars investment to get in the Daly City area.

This would hardly seem reasonable, since most men making a business venture would like to realize a profit.

If the present applicants believe they can offer good service and still render themselves a profit, let them give it a go.

Does Anybody Know the Answer?

Who's going to put up Daly City's Christmas decorations?

The City of Daly City has already strung up the Christmas lights but has not authorized any funds for other decorations.

Rightfully, this a project to be performed by an organization such as a Chamber of Commerce, or a Merchants Association if such an organization now exists in fact as well as name.

On Oct. 29 Frank Lombardi, president of the Merchants Association, an organization long in a state of suspended animation, announced that the $500 in the association's treasury would be turned over to the newly organized Chamber of Commerce for their use in providing decorations here.

Since that time members of the association have put the veto on the donation and the situation is as high up in the sky as a hot air balloon.

The Merchants Association is apparently being reactivated.

If this is the case then perhaps they intend to keep their half-a-thousand bucks in the coffers.

But in the meantime while this money is being shuttle back and forth a Christmas in Daly City minus decorations is seen on the horizon.

A Reminder of That Fateful Date

December 7, 1941, was born of carelessness, complacence and wishful thinking. It shocked us into anger and action and brought forth our native courage and determination as a people. It gave us a rallying cry, a fierce incentive around which to build our efforts.

Now we approach December 7, 1952—11 years of time and thought and change. And a vast change, too. Just recently, the pilot who helped plan and lead the attack on Pearl Harbor was cordially welcomed on a visit to the United States. We forgive and forget easily, which is good in some ways. But not all ways. Forgive the hate that inspired the Pearl Harbor attack—yes, but forget the complacence that made it possible—no. That's what we should do.

But have you tried to sign up anyone for Civil Defense? Or, have you volunteered for Civil Defense? Ladies and gentlemen, the calendar does not show it, but this is December 6, 1941. To be sure, December 7, 1941 is well past. But there is another December 7 this year and next and the next after that. These may only be dates. Any one could be a date with disaster—a disaster of our own making.

We know the Russians won't attack us. We knew the Japs wouldn't either. The trouble was, the Japs didn't know it.

Fresh Approach on Old Problems

With 1952 nearing a close and with a New Year and new Administration in Washington about to begin, we have reason to hope that a fresh start and fresh approach on our many national problems will begin to bear fruit in 1953.

But let no one think that there is some slick way out of our difficulties. There isn't. And that applies not only to our vexing world involvements but to our domestic woes as well. We have had years of money-happy spending in government. We have seen taxes and the national debt shoot sky high. In some degree this was unavoidable but in many ways it was not. Under the Eisenhower regime we shall endeavor to get our feet back on the ground.

This doesn't mean the abandonment of social gains which the people prefer to keep or a radical change in our day-to-day life. But it does mean a departure from the fanciful theory that we can somehow spend our way into prosperity without any regard to real values. This though was touched on by Carle F. Wente, businessman, when he recently declared: "What this country needs is not shorter hours and more pay, but fewer regulations and more honest work. We will never dig ourselves out of the hole we are in except by good, hard labor; by more business in government and less government in business."

A Place Behind the Comics

Are the day-to-day events of the Korean War of interest to newspaper readers? The Vancouver Sun thinks not. After purposely running the same news dispatch for three successive days on the front page—and getting no kickback whatever—the Sun has come to the conclusion that people either don't read the war news at all or have become so accustomed to the usual run of dispatches that they can't distinguish one from another. Significantly, however, when there is an irregularity about a comic strip—if it's omitted or repeated—there is a quick and positive reader response. Well, people need the comic strips for diversion in these grim days, but the men at the front would not be pleased to know that their real life-and-death struggle rated a place behind the comics. At least, they wouldn't think it funny.

What's the Policy on Freed Spies?

A report from London reveals that the British are faced with a vexing question. The question is: What to do with an atomic spy after he is released from prison? The spy in question is Dr. Alan Nunn May, a brilliant physicist, who was convicted in 1946 of passing atomic secrets along to Russia. He was sentenced to 10 years but earned time off for good behavior and is now to be released. According to English law he is completely free once having paid the debt for his crime. What especially worries British authorities is that he has never expressed regret for his actions. Undoubtedly he could again be of help to Moscow if he is still inclinded to play the part of the traitor. He is an admitted Communist. Even though his past work for the Soviets may eventually cost untold lives and damage, he is getting off with a lighter penalty than is sometimes handed out for unsuccessful armed robbery. Certainly, when he is freed he won't be forgotten—by Scotland Yard.

Air Force Man Enjoys Receiving RECORD

Gentlemen:

Enclosed herewith is government form DD 415 notifying you of my new address.

I would like to take this opportunity to tell you how much I enjoy receiving THE RECORD while I am away from home. Please accept my sincere thanks.

Yours very truly,
Pvt. John C. Vaughn Jr.

In The Past

TEN YEARS AGO IN THE RECORD

Thursday, Dec. 3 — Now fully organized and "operating under its own power" is the auxiliary police division of Daly City's civilian defense corps, it was announced by Police Chief James G. Reardon when he released the names Monday of auxiliary police district heads.

"They have their own captains and sergeants in each district now," announced Chief Reardon, "so they are on their own, although there is a regular officer of the police department acting as an overseer in each district."

The auxiliaries will soon be wearing badges identifving them as members of Daly City's auxiliary police force.

One week of a gun-girl terror, starting with a robbery at the Globe tavern, Mission and Market streets in Daly City's south end, was halted by a bullet wound, last week when two pretty girls who figured to make more money with a pistol than picking apples in Yakima were finally apprehended.

One of the girls, Mrs. Betty Keifer, 24, was wounded in the abdomen when the gun she was holding went off during a fracas with another woman in a second robbery attempt. Mrs. Keifer has been given a fair chance to live but her condition still remains serious. The other girl, Mary Keifer, 19, a sister-in-law, was held by San Francisco police.

The two girls told police they were apple pickers from Yakima and they were visiting "friends" in San Francisco.

After pleading guilty Friday to charges of beating his year-old stepdaughter, Glenn R. Bowman, Colma, was placed on two week's probation Tuesday by Judge Wade H. Clay in the Daly City Justice court.

Bowman is accused of having beaten his infant stepdaughter, Margaret Hattan. in a fit of anger on Sunday, Nov. 29.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO IN THE RECORD

Friday, Dec. 3—John W. Marchbank, directing owner of Tanforan race course and master of the famed Heather Farm is bringing to California the most prized blood in racing. His new thoroughbred, Soleil du Midi, is now on the high seas after embarking from Liverpool, and is eventually destined for stud duty at the Walnut Creek farm. He is expected to arrive in San Francisco on Dec. 15.

Soleil Du Midi will be taken direct to Tanforan, placed in training for the Santa Anita handicap and, following that engagement, will be retired to the stud, according to present plans.

Wednesday evening Daly City Post No. 410, American Legion, will have as guest speaker department service officer Charles Farrington who will deliver an interesting address at the legion hall on "Veterans' Facilities."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO IN THE RECORD

Friday, Dec. 2 — It has been called to the attention of the Daly City Board of Councilmen that an agent of some detective agency has been canvassing in different parts of the city for subscriptions to pay an additional police officer, and an explanation has been asked as to the board's policy in the matter.

Detective agencies are governed by state laws and state licenses, and have no connection with the city government. It is entirely optional with the people if they wish to sign up and pay for additional police protection outside of the Daly City police.

At the short and snappy meeting of the City Council last Monday evening Councilman Sundermann presided in the absence of Mayor H. H. Smith.

A communication from the Veteran's Welfare Board, asking the city to exept certain property in Daly City belonging to their members, was referred to the city attorney for advice.

School Population Increase Still Faces Continuance

The continuance of San Mateo county's school population increase was indicated by figures released today by San Mateo county Superintendent of Schools James R. Tormey.

59,413 students of all ages were enrolled in the public schools of San Mateo county October 31, 1952, as compared with 53,456 for the same date in 1951.

Of the current students 40,718 are in elementary schools, 13,507 in the high schools and 1,032 in the junior college, with the remainder in adult education.

The overall increase of regular students, not counting adults, was 12.5 per cent as compared with 12.7 per cent increase the preceding year. Tormey pointed out this slight decrease in the rate of growth is primarily attributable to the higher entrance age in the kindergarten and first grade which went into effect this year, and he predicted that in 1953 this group of "held back students" would cause the elementary rate to spread beyond normal.

Rate of increase for the elementary schools was 14.6 per cent over the previous year while the high schools grew 11.4 per cent. The junior college showed a 16 per cent growth, snapping out of the slump produced by the Korean war.

Leading districts in percentage increases were Portola 32.9 per cent, Ravenswood 23.5 per cent and South San Francisco (elementary only) 20.6 per cent. In actual numerical increase Redwood City elementary schools led with an increase of 1,078, San Mateo elementary was second with 745 and South San Francisco third with 645.

Tormey further commented that the actual growth as shown is somewhat in excess of his previous conservative estimates which indicated a school population in 1960 larger than the county's total population in 1940.

Air Force Conducts Survey in Counties On Reservists Info

In order to obtain more accurate and current information on Air Force reservists, the Fourth Air Force is presently conducting a survey of reservists in San Mateo and San Francisco counties.

According to Major General Alfred A. Kessler, Jr., "With the advent of the Korean situation, the Air Force found it necessary to recall many reservists to active duty. They were recalled on the basis of their records, which in many cases contained information almost six years old. This gave birth to numerous problems, many of which resulted in individual hardships and injustices."

The survey team will interview all reservists residing in San Francisco and San Mateo counties.

"As a result of this," General Kessler said, "the reservist, his family and his employer will be able to guage more accurately and inteligently his future with regard to possible active military service."

The survey site is located at Building No. 8, West Campus, City College of San Francisco, Ocean and Phelan avenues, San Francisco.

San Francisco Hosts Chamber of Commerce

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4 — San Francisco this week end will be the business capital of California State Chamber of Commerce which convenes at the Fairmont Hotel Thursday for its 25th annual meeting.

Highlight of the convention will be the Silver Anniversary Luncheon at which Ellsworth C. Alvord of Washington, D. C., noted tax authority, will speak.

From 10 a.m. to noon and from 2 to 4 p.m. on Thursday Chamber committees on agriculture, highways, water resources, industry, taxation and insurance will meet. During the same periods on Friday committees on industrial insurance, travel and recreation and natural resources will be in session.

Several hundred leaders in industry, business, finance, labor, agriculture, forestry, mining, fishing and government will attend..

Mr. Henry Edwards, a large porperty owner in our city and along School street, addressed the board on the widening of School street. Mr. Edwards expressed a desire to make that street eight or ten feet wider, that it may be better able to handle the traffic.

He complimented Daly City on its wonderful growth and city management, then promised to see all interested on that street and learn the sentiment in general on this improvement.

REPORT ON THREE-DEE

By RIDGELY CUMMINGS

Aldous Huxley predicted it a long time ago in his science-fiction novel, "Brave New World." He called it the "feelies" and said some day people would enter specially equipped theatres where they would watch motion pictures while all their senses were stimulated so adeptly that for all practical purposes they would be living through the experiences up on the screen.

Apparently that day is one step closer. After ordinary two dimension movies, then talkies and sound, then color, now we have motion pictures in the round.

I've just come from the world premiere of "Bwana Devil," which is hailed as the world's first feature length, natural vision, three-dimension movie.

The new technique was not entirely a success but it is a big step forward and brings another aspect of realism to mass entertainment.

There are several kinds of third dimensional movies. This is the variety for which one must wear glasses. The glasses are a nuisance. They are handed out as one enters the theatre, strips of cardboard in which are embedded two octagonal sections of thin, transparent material, not glass but something on the order of cellophane.

The movie patron bends the cardboard to fit his particular head shape. The theory is that the end strips will be held in place by one's ears. This is all very well for people whose ears set close to their heads. Mine stick out and failed to furnish enough traction to hold the glasses tightly in place.

Other male partons seemed to have the same trouble and there was a lot of cardboard-bending and glasses-adjusting in my vicinity. Women however are in luck. They just stick the ends of the cardboard in their hair, where friction does the rest.

The film which introduced this revolutionary technique to a curious public was no great shakes. It was written, directed and produced by Arch Oboler, a radio writer who has done much better, and if it weren't for the depth gimmick it wouldn't draw flies.

"Bwana Devil" deals with the efforts of Robert Stack, a moody and inefficient engineer who never carries a gun with him at the right time, to build a railroad in spite of the depradations of two lions. After the lions have killed off half the cast, including Nigel Bruce, who plays the part of a philosophic doctor, Stack gets around to liquidating the beasts. End of story, end of picture.

Barbara Britton, who looked thin and unhappy, appeared in the last quarter of the picture, long enough to emote a war love scene with the hero and come out in the audience to kiss the public. She doesn't actually kiss anybody except Mr. Stack but there is a closeup of her embracing the camera which indicates the potentialities of three-dee. It was this reminded me of Aldous Huxley's prophecy about "feelies."

Three-dee is well suited to an outdoor story such as this African fairy tale because it sharpens the beauty of the backgrounds. Logically enough, the human figure seems to grow smaller and lose stature as the vegetation and mountains behind the actors assume the proportions of nature.

Occasionally the picture went out of focus and at other times the actors took on a wax dummy solidity but by and large the result was technically successful.

However I have one tip for Mr. Oboler. He should forget about dissolves in this new medium. They are too hard on the eyes. A dissolve is a device to change the setting by allowing part of the next next scene to appear through the part presently showing. But when the two scenes that are blended are of varying distances from the camera, the resulting mixture of images is too much for the adjusting capacities of the eye.

The propaganda about Natural Vision, as this process is called, is that it is good for the eyes and will actually rest them.

This I doubt but here's a direct quote: "It is predicted that viewing a full length picture in this system (Natural Vision) may do more for a person with weak eyes than would hundreds of dollars worth of eye exercises in a doctor's office."

The opthalmologists will love that one. I'm glad they wrote it "may" do more good instead of will do. Not that my eyes were tired after the show. They felt fine. But they got plenty of rest and relaxation because my glasses kept falling off.

According to a prologue which attempted to explain the new process, the glasses one wears are made of polaroid. Hearing this, I took off the cardboard and put on a pair of polaroid sun glasses I happened to have in my pocket. They didn't work. It must require a special kind of polariod.

The cameras used are supposed to operate on the same principle as the human eyes. Film in two cameras, slightly separated to give two angles of vision, are exposed at the same time. When the moment comes to exhibit the result, two projectors are coupled and throw out their two pictures on the screen in scynchronization, one super-imposed on the other.

Looking at the result without the special glasses, one gets a blurred effect, something like the ghosts one occasionally sees on a defective TV screen. The glasses straighten this out and sure enough give great depth and definition to the objects on the screen.

This is particularly true of close-ups. There was one shot of a Masai warrior throwing a spear which caused gasps and shrieks from the audience. The spear appeared to be coming right out of the screen and into the viewer, meaning me. Bravely I gritted my teeth and dodged behind the seat in front of me. It missed me. When I found my glasses and looked up again, Mr. Stack was comforting Miss Britton and telling her everything was all right, it had missed him too.

Undoubtedly Arch Oboler, Dr. Julian Gunzburg and M. L. Gunzburg, the three who own this particular process, will make a pot of money.

But until I can afford to do what Clark Gable is reputed to have done, namely have my ears fixed so they won't stick out at right angles, I'll wait for Cinerama or one of the other processes that don't require glasses.

FINAL CHEST REPORT MEETING SET FOR WEDNESDAY AT PENINSULA YWCA

San Mateo county Community Chest officials this week set the final scheduled county-wide report meeting for Wednesday evening, December 10, at the Peninsula YMCA in San Mateo. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. by young women of Burlingame and San Mateo Hi-Y groups, and tickets at $1.50 per person will be available at the door.

Keller To Preside

Ed Keller, campaign chairman, will preside over the report meeting at which time Eugene Fletchall, north county vice chairman; Eugene Mignacco, central county vice chairman and Graham Adams, south county vice-chairman, will introduce area workers who will announce the newest figures for the 1953 Community Chest Campaign.

Late quotations show that the current drive for funds to operate the 22 agencies providing health, welfare and recreation facilities vital to San Mateo county are still lacking $89,000.00 of the minimum goal set.

Glen O. Smalcomb, president of Community Chest, while addressing Chest workers at the last report meeting, stressed the absolute necessity of meeting the goal set at $370,440.00

Thorough Investigation

In the months preceding the opening of the 1953 funds campaign, Community Chest officials, Red Feather agency representatives and civic leaders throughout the county conducted a thorough investigation and study of the needs of San Mateo County in the pursuit of health, welfare, social service and recreational security. The budget that was set for 1953 represents the bare minimum for continuance of these acutely needed agencies and the campaign quota must be met that they may carry on through the coming year.

Benefits May Be Cut

Smallcomb reminds residents of San Mateo county that to fall short of the campaign goal will mean reducing a budget that provides a hopeful future for those who despair—thus benefiting all. The benefits for each individual in San Mateo county will be cut down and spread thinner over a population that is ever expanding.

Those who have not yet been contacted by a Community Chest volunteer are urged to mail their contibutions to Community Chest Headquarters, 1117 South B street, San Mateo.

Doctor's Book Answers Many Health Questions

Are there more women than men alcoholics in the United States? Where is the most unsanitary place to live in the civilized world? Should you bathe more or bathe less as you grow older? What country recently imported a giant cannibal mosquito?

Answers to those and many other questions about personal and social health problems are found in "Health Instruction Yearbook, 1952" by Dr. Oliver E. Byrd, Ed.D., director of the department of hygiene, Stanford university, and professor of education. This is the tenth yearbook of this nature which he has compiled.

Writer, Electrician, Baker, Clerk, Mariner; Also Raises Animals

FIRST LITERARY effort of Sal Grimaldi, author who lives at 281 Los Altos, Daly City, was published last Friday. Grimaldi is shown here at his local home tending to some of his rabbits. When not working at the bakery or writing, both of which take a good portion of his waking hours, Grimaldi tends to his animals. Grimaldi has several other works in progress which he hopes to have published in the future.

Makes Literary Debut

Local Author's First Novel Is Published

Last Friday, nearly 29 years after a literary penchant had prompted Sal Grimaldi to begin his book "Prigionieri Del Destino," a revision of that work was published by the Pageant Press of New York.

Publishing of this book, titled "The Sword of Doom," marks the first time that 42-year-old author-adventurer Grimaldi, who resides at 281 Los Olivos in Daly City, has been in print, but it won't be the last.

Imagination Abounds

Grimaldi's book, a fascinating admixture of vivid imagination combined with a first-hand knowledge of the French disposition, is packed with horrors seldom found in today's book market. The two principal characters are Jerome Tanegier, once a great Shakespearean actor who builds a shell of hatred about himself after spending years in prison for a crime he did not commit, and Dr. Francois Richelieu, the most beloved Parisian practioner of the age—until a lynch mob takes the life of his innocent younger brother and upsets the doctor's focus on man's relation to his fellow man.

The prime motivation of these two men is revenge and Grimaldi weaves the pattern so that both characters have their opportunity to sate their warped desire for retribution at the story's climax.

Throughout the tale the reader moves through dungeons and torture chambers while the aura of death pervades throughout.

Well Calculated

The meeting of the two protagonists in their ultimate quest for revenge wraps up a tale that, as they say on the radio thriller program, "is well calculated to keep you in suspense."

But that is only the half of it. Grimaldi began the work back in 1913, while at the precocious age of 13, and when he had finished his first literary enterprise, written in Italian, it totalled 160,000 words and was entitled "Prigionieri Del Destino," or "Prisoners of Destiny."

After many editors had spurned his lengthy work, Grimaldi finally was fortunate enough to get a helping hand from one. He advised the writer to cut his manuscript considerably, explaining that no editor wants to wade through a novice's first work if it is too lengthy.

Heeds Advice

Grimaldi heeded the advice, and split up his story into two separate adventures. One was "The Sword of Doom," the other, which is still undergoing revision, will be entitled "The Prisoners of Destiny."

Grimaldi draws considerably from his travels and various experiences as material for his literary efforts.

His adeptness with the French scene was due to the four years spent in Paris, between the ages of 13 and 17, after he had run away from his parents in Italy. He came to America at the age of 20, joined the Merchant Marine and set about seeing the world and learning the English language. (He was born in Boston, Mass., but was taken to Italy by his parents at the age of three). He did nothing but study the language in his spare time and increased his proficiency with this tongue by translating his prisoners of destiny to English—all 160,000 words of it.

Jack of All Trades

After leaving the Merchant Marine service Grimaldi spent 37 months as a motion picture operator, a short stint as an electrician at the shipyards, a term as shipping clerk, and then turned to the baking profession, which he has worked at for the past six years.

The ambitious Grimaldi manages to get in a little writing each morning after his work at the bakery. He arrives home at about 7 a.m., starts writing about 8 and works until 10 a.m. Then on Thursdays and Saturdays, his days off, he sometimes writes for stretches of from 10-12 hours with only one or two cups of coffee for sustenance during these marathons.

Short Story Work

He also likes to work in the short-story field, having completed about six to date. Two of the shorts he is working on at present are set in Daly City. One deals with bank robbers, who make way with loot from a San Francsico bank and make their escape to a hideaway on Junipero Serra boulevard.

Grimaldi says it needs much work, since he feels it "a little too rough in its present state."

Title of his two unpublished works which take place in this vicinity are "The Tragic Night" and "The Doomed Alibi."

Grimaldi doesn't believe in being so conventional as to begin a story at the beginning and end it at the end.

Unconventional Attack

His abundant imagination may lead to a strange chain of circumstances which might appear as the middle or end of the novel on its completion. After he gets his initial idea he works on it from there, attacking his narrative from both ends.

He explained that this was the case in "The Sword of Doom." The author found himself mentally in Dr. Richelieu's macabre house of weird chemistry, dungeons and hidden chambers. With this to work with, Grimaldi proceeded to his opening and thence to his denoument.

However the method, though, he seems to have fashioned a highly palatable work for his first offering to the reading public.

Women's ORT To Hold First Chanukah Party

The Northern Peninsula chapter Vomen's American Ort, will hold ts first Chanukah party on Sat rday afternoon, Dec. 13, at the Los Cerritos school in South San Francisco. Hi there. Birthdays galore and the many Christmas and Thanksgiving activities were not slowed down by the rain.

MANILA

Billy Gerst celebrated his eighth birthday with a party on Nov. 22. Those attending were Gene Fitzgerald, Anita and Nathan Howard, Janice Williams, Charles Nafe, Roger Leaf, Lorraine Gerst and Ruth Thompson. Little Mike Droullard was invited but could not attend because of illness.

The Gerst family kept quite busy this week, because the following week little Lorraine Gerst celebrated her fourth birthday. Those present at her party were: Ricky Fitzgerald, Lee Willams, Willie Howard, Marolyn Nassen, Billy Gerst, Ceilia and Mary Ann Andres.

NIMITZ

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stookey had as guests this Thanksgiving Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Gilkey and Susan of Canyon Park, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pilcher of San Francisco.

88th

Jeanette and Russ Parkison and children, Lynn and Robert, spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Gallian in Fresno.

MADDUX

Little Marsha Hart was a guest of Princess Pat on television Tuesday evening.

Happy birthday to Kitty Lagoria, who was six years old last week. Those joining in celebrating her birthday were: Barbara Grenenger, Lynn Loomis, Susan Sherman, Peggy Mahoney, Laurie and Peggy McElhinny, Marv Jean Parks, Irene Arejula, Sandra Contraras, Marsha Hart, Patty and Norma Arthur, and Alex and Wayne Stucky.

FOOTHILL

Del and Maurine Guyman and children, Karen and Kent, spent last Wednesday and Thursday in Redding. They attended the wedding of Mrs. Guyman's sister, Marian Burnham, to Mr. Joe Babiaraz. The Guyman's were accompanied home by Maurine's mother, Mrs. Ethelene Burnham, her brother Mr. Keith Burnham, of Salt Lake City, and her sister, Mrs. Beverley Orton of Ogden, Utah.

Guests of Vic and Mabs Guz, Saturday were Fred and Mary Ann Hilger, formerly of Broadmoor, now living in Eureka.

MIDWAY

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Edholm of Vallejo, were dinner guests of the John Travinkys.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Mattson were host and hostess for a Thanksgiving dinner. Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mattson, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Noll, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gallagher, and children, Janice and Christine.

NIMITZ

Mrs. Harvey Zaitz has as a houseguest her niece, Shirley Powers of San Jose.

HERE AND THERE

The installation of the new officers of the Women's Association was held at a meeting on Dec. 1. A Christmas party was given afterwards, including a play and exchange of gifts.

A dozen high school young people from the Community church attended a party at the Lakeside Presbyterian church.

The lot on which the village churchmen will sell their Christmas trees was donated by Mrs. Bernadette Marchbank.

Sorry to hear that Charlotte Spruill has been ill. Hope she will be better soon.

The Broadmoor post of the American legion will give a Christmas part for the children on Dec. 17. More details later.

So long for now.

HILLSIDE PTA CHRISTMAS MEET IS SCHEDULED FOR DEC. 17 AT COLMA

The Hillside PTA cordially invites everyone to attend its Christmas meeting being held at the Colma school at Market and Hillside street. This will be the Christmas program, Dec. 17, at 8 p.m. A children's program will be presented.

The executive board will hold its meeting at the home of Mrs. William Cheatham, at 61 Muirwood drive in Daly City, Dec. 8 at 8 p.m. Board members and chairman should call her if they cannot come.

The half-day district meeting, Sequoia high school auditorium, featuring the home service department, is the regular meeting and those wishing to attend should contact Mrs. A. J. Nagy, president, PL. 5-5459.

Those wishing rides, should call the following women, who are in various neighborhoods and will give information concerning where to obtain rides: Mrs. J. D. Hopper, PL. 5-1263; Mrs. Dale J. Stookey, PL. 5-3874; Mrs. Fred Bertetta, PL. 5-4356; Mrs. A. J. Gaggero, PL. 5-1661; Mrs. Chester Mattison, PL. 5-5275, Mrs. Chas. Hansen, PL. 5-2616.

Mrs. Bertetta, chairman of the food sales, announces that the first hot dog lunch will be served on Dec. 10 at the Colma school. The children brought home a menu and price list on Dec. 3 and are to return this today.

The rag drive is going to be held after Jan. 1, and members have been advised to save all the old clothing.

STUDY CLUBS IS TOPIC AT SERRA MOTHERS MEET

Rev. James Cunningham of the faculty of Serra high school and moderator of Serra Mothers' Auxiliary led an informal discussion session on "Study clubs" at the group's recent meeting at which Mrs. LeRoy Gast, president, presided.

A report by the chairmen, Mrs. Ward McCullen and Mrs. Joseph Sweyd, on the recent "afternoon of cards for Serra" indicated a very successful party with a substantial sum realized for the chosen school project.

As the club will not convene again until after the holidays, plans were made for the January 21st meeting which will feature a pot luck luncheon, an annual affair. Mrs. Gast named Mrs. Joseph Francoeur as chairman to head the arrangements committee.

Recent auxiliary activities included sponsor duties by members and their husbands at the sophomore hop and the football rally dance. Chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Olsen, Thomas J. Duffy, Robert Thurtle, LeRoy Gast, Ward McMullen, Charles Keyser, James Prickett, Charles Lewis, Irving Redmond, Lawrence Newport, Roy Olsen and Joseph Sweyd.

A social hour followed the meeting in charge of sophomore mothers with Mrs. James Prickett as chairman.

Room 8 Children Engage in Many Activities in Week

Recent weeks have been full of surprises for the children in room eight, Westlake school.

The results of the annual Fire Prevention essay contest, sponsored by the Daly City fire department, have been announced. Susan Pfotenhauer won a prize for her paper on "Ways To Prevent Fires."

Janice Courtney brought two baby Chinchillas to school for the class to see. They were beautiful little animals and we all enjoyed their visit.

Barbara Verducci brought a hand-made skirt to show us, accompanied by a very pretty red lei which we all admired.

On Wednesday, we elected our class officers. Eddi Gugel was chosen president and Susan Pfotenhauer was named class secretary. Both children are now busy selecting new monitors for classroom duties.

The projector of the new Morrison Planetarium in San Francisco contains a total of 25,000 mechanical parts.

Girl Scouts Seek Contributions For Christmas Baskets

The Brownies and Girl Scouts of the 101 Parkview district have asked all persons to remember the Christmas basket being held for the Veterans hospital in Pal Alto.

Date for contributing articles for the baskets is Friday, Dec. 12, from 1:30 to 5 p.m. at the 101 Parkview scout house. Troop 148 will be on hand to receive the packages.

The following items are suggested contributions.:

Men's Ward: talcum powder, jigsaw puzzles, T-shirts, pajamas, socks, face cloths, candy, cookies, fruit and nuts.

Women's Ward: face or talcum power, cologne (in stick form), face cloths, hosiery, candy, cookies, fruit and nuts.

Magazines, not older than three months and not consisting of murder stories or any books pertaining to housekeeping. Nothing sharp or in glass containers, no soap.

Grand Opening Of Tanforan Flower Shop Tomorrow

Grand opening of the new modern Tanforan flower shop will be held tomorrow and free flowers will be given to the ladies.

The spanking new store is situated at 6175 Mission street.

After 20 years in business the Tanforan flower shop has moved, in keeping with the expansion of Daly City.

Carol and George Bignotti, who operate the shop, said the new shop will mean speedier service to customers and a greater variety of floral pieces, flowers and arrangements.

They also added that there will be no increase in the shop's prices.

Tanforan flower shop offers 30-day charge accounts and wires flowers anywhere. Phone orders are accepted there. The Bignottis invite everyone to come in the shop tomorrow and browse around.

Chadbourne School PTA Invites All To Bazaar, Carnival

The Chadbourne school PTA invites everyone to their carnival and bazaar today from 5 to 9 p.m.

The theme is "fun for all the family." Among the various types of entertainment, there will be a junior cabaret with the younger set performing as well as a mouse circus which will consist of trained mice performing unusual feats.

There also will be sound movies and a game room of special interest for the younger set.

The bazaar will provide a myriad of items. The cowboy booth, under Mrs. R. Maronis, will have such items as chaps, vests, bandanas and western outfits for girls and boys.

The Christmas decoration booth with ornamental pieces for the home is under the direction of Mrs. J. C. Ausano.

The plant booth, under Mrs. K. P. McAweeney, has all kinds of plants colorfully decorated, many already planted. Mrs. C. D. Hageman and Mrs. Deedlers, needlework booth, will have doll clothes, knitted slippers for mother and daughter, novelty aprons and movie purses.

There will also be such booths as white elephants, booth exchange, jewelry booth and a cake walk.

In the food line, dinner will be served at 6 p.m. in the cafeteria by Mrs. Robert McPherson and her committee.

General chairman for this event is Mrs. Donald Johnston.

Crocker PTA Annual Bazaar Gets Underway Here Today

Crocker PTA's bazaar will take place this afternoon and evening in the library of the Crocker School, 639 Bellevue avenue.

Upstairs will be a game room for the children and in another room movies will be shown for ten cents.

Among the many PTA women actively working as chairmen on the bazaar are: Mrs. Evelyn Beasley, Mrs. G. Eric Lunn, fish pond; Mrs. Lynn Centi, game room; Mrs. Albert Saarinan, financial; Mrs. A. Lyon, general chairman.

Anyone wishing to donate to the bazaar will be gratefully received. Those desiring to have items picked up may contact the following women: Mrs. Thomas Mullen, PL. 5-7263; Mrs. E. Schmale, JU. 6-8579; Mrs. William Rudometkin, PL. 5-4800; Mrs. E. Turney, JU. 6-2579; and Mrs. C. Johnson, PL. 5-1203.

Money raised will be for the welfare of the children.

There will be fancywork, ceramics, cakes and cookie. Handling the food department will be Mrs. Arthur Hedvall.

The next meeting of the Crocker PTA will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the library. A movie, "San Francisco at Play," will be shown. Christmas carols will be sung by the school children under the direction of Mrs. Muriel Vint.

Colma PTA Holds Christmas Meeting

The Colma PTA held its regular meeting Dec. 2 at the Thornton Domestic Arts room at First and Castle streets in Daly City. The music chairman, Lois Thomas, was in charge of the program, which featured children from Jefferson elementary and the Thornton school.

The executive board meeting which was held at the Jefferson elementary school in the teachers lunch room, took up the business of the day, the setting up of the program for the meeting being held Dec. 2. Mrs. F. Bauer, was appointed as the chairman for the Christmas parties to be held in the school. She will call on various mothers to help and to donate, so any co-operation given her will be fully appreciated, she announced.

A report from the co-ordinating council was given by Mrs. John C. Wiesner, delegate at large. Mrs. V. J. Wallace, magazine chairman, gave a report on her magazine luncheon. Mrs. Sanford Vickers, president, appointed her committees to help with the decorating of the Christmas trees which were donated by the PTA for the schools.

Mrs. R. Brandon, was appointed safety chairman.

Since the days are shorter and the school is on double sessions, motorists watch out for the children who have to come home while it is getting dark we watch for them at the side-walk crossing and on the bicycles. Drive carefully.

Those wishing to attend the 17th district meeting which is a half-day session being held at the Sequoia high school auditorium, and is featuring the home service department, should get in touch with Mrs. Vickers, PL. 5-3590.

Three Teenagers Are Sent to Juvenile Home

Three teenagers who recently took a florist truck on a joyride to Russian river in Sonoma county, committed a burglary and returned home, have been picked up and taken to Hillcrest juvenile home, according to Broadmoor Police Chief Ray Savage.

The boys, all 15 years old, told officers they had been involved in an accident in San Francisco and were afraid to return home.

17th District CCPT To Meet Monday At Bayshore School

Do's and don'ts for PTA'ers as they concern school boards will be outlined by Mrs. Russell Scott of Salinas, state congress director of education, at 17th District California Congress of Parents and Teachers meeting, Monday, Dec. 8, 9:30 a.m., at Bayshore school, 155 Oriente street, San Francisco.

Duties, problems, and responsibilities of school superintendents will be discussed by Stanley O. Schnepple, superintendent of Ravenswood School District; and Mrs. Ellen S. Bhend of the Brisbane school board of trustees will amplify Mr. Schneple's remarks insofar as they relate to school board members.

District director of education Mrs. C. W. Cadigan announces that at the conclusion of the half-day meeting, coffee will be served by members of Bayshore PTA.

Mrs. Cadigan issues a plea for clothing for children of all ages, to be used by residents of San Mateo Juvenile Hall. Bundles may be brought to the meeting for collection and later distribution.

County Educator Is Appointed to Group Studying Personnel

William S. Herbig, coordinator of Special Education, Office of the San Mateo County Superintendent of Schools, has recently been appointed to the Office of Education, Washington, D.C., to a national committee studying the qualifications of personnel who work with exceptional children. He will serve with the group headed by Dr. Walter E. Snyder, Salem, Oregon, which is studying the specific area of competencies needed by personnel concerned with the exceptional child in state departments of education.

Herbig attended Sequoia high school, San Mateo Junior college and the University of California and served with the United States Army Signal Corps stationed in England during World War II. Before taking his present position with the county office, Herbig counseled at the California School for the Deaf at Berkeley, taught in Susanville and was teaching-principal at Woodside school.

He is an active member of the American Association of Health Recreation and Physical Education, the International Council for Exceptional Children and the American Association for Mental Deficiency.

Health Program Is Presented at Woodrow Wilson PTA Meeting; Children Give Play

"Health" was the topic featured at the last regular meeting of the Woodrow Wilson PTA held Nov. 25.

Mae Varni's first graders presented to the parents a play entitled, "The Health Plan." Miss Varni was the author of this worthwhile program.

Following the play, songs were sung by the students. Titles were "The Turkey," "Pumpkin Pie," and "Over the River."

The school nurse, Toni Gattuccio, spoke on health in general. She answered questions asked by interested parents. There was quite a discussion and literature was handed out to all 40 parents attending this meeting.

At the last counting there were 525 members in the Woodrow Wilson PTA. The group is still striving to enlarge its membership.

All persons are welcome to join and enjoy the activities presented throughout the year.

The Woodrow Wilson PTA extends thanks to all persons that helped make their bazaar a success this year. The amount raised to carry on with PTA activities was $334.07.

The fun room and program were the highlights of the evening at the bazaar. While parents watched the program the children made themselves busy with the many games in the fun room.

Plans are being made by the PTA to give the children of Woodrow Wilson school their seasonal Christmas parties.

Refreshments will be served to them and Santa Claus will pay a visit to each class.

Attendance prize for the meeting of Nov. was won by Miss Varni's class.

WORKING HARD to make Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mothers Club bazaar Dec. 7th in Daly City a success, is Mrs. M. J. Cresta, president of the club. The bazaar is to be held in the school auditorium after the eight o'clock Mass, and continue through the day.

Hunter's Choice

LOS ANGELES — California sportsmen's proposals for a hunters' choice deer hunting season in 1953 will be given public hearing in a series of January meetings authorized by the Fish and Game Commission.

The two-day either-sex hunt would come at the end of the regular buck hunting season in specified coastal areas. The move was favored by the Associated Sportsmen of California and the California Department of Fish and Game as a means of boosting the hunter take and protecting the deer range in certain areas.

The public hearings are required before the Commission considers the special season at its January 30 regulatory powers meeting, when 1952 hunting and angling regulations are set.

Hearings will be held in Los Angeles, January 7; Santa Maria, January 9; Salinas, January 13; San Francisco, January 14; and Santa Rosa, January 15.

The hunter's choice season would be held Sept. 14 and 15, 1953, under proposals to be made to the Commission by the Department of Fish and Game. It would apply in the traditional coastal deer hunting areas, except the counties of Mendocino, Lake, Glenn, Colusa and portions of San Luis Obispo, Fresno, San Benito, Kern, Ventura and Los Angeles counties.

The excepted areas consist mostly of coastal deer country where large burns have occurred in national forests, or public domain lands that are of extremely easy access, it was stated.

Commissioners at the same time authorized hearings to discuss the opening of three deer refuges to hunting in 1953. Sportsmen's groups recommended the opening of the Huntington Lake refuge, Fresno county; Refuge 1-M, Kern county; and Refuge 1-G, Tehama county.

No More Sardines

SAN FRANCISCO — With no sardines to catch or process for the first time in the fishery's history, California fishing industry representatives are proposing that full regulation over sardines be given by the legislature to the State Fish and Game Commission and the Marine Research Committee.

The proposal for future legislation came out of a day-long meeting of the Sardine and Mackerel Industry Advisory Committee, called by State Fish and Game Director Seth Gordon. Representatives of fishermen, cannery workers, boat owners, processors and sportsmen reached what Gordon called "a new high in cooperation on this important issue."

The meeting's unanimous agreement on the need for immediate fishery management signalled the close of a year's debate over the issue of restrictive regulation—consistently sought by the State Department of Fish and Game, and based upon its specialists' warnings that the sardine fishery was on the ropes and faced a knockout in the near future.

The concern over dwindling supplies of Pacific mackerel and possible scarcity of anchovy and jack mackerel was indicated by the Committee's inclusion of these fisheries also in the management proposal. It called for investment of full regulatory powers over the four species in the Fish and Game Commission, acting upon maximum-minimum season and bag limit recommendations of the Marine Research Committee.

Commission control will be asked for a two-year period, starting with the 1953 season. All commercial fishing laws are now set by the legislature.

The Marine Research Committee directs the study of sardine life history and oceanic conditions affecting the supply. The investigations are made by scientists from the California Academy of Sciences, Department of Fish and Game, Hopkins Marine Station of Stanford University, U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

The total statewide sardine catch through mid-November this season approximated 2,000 tons as compared to nearly 100,000 tons at the same time last year.

Junior Anglers

CHICAGO — California's 1952 Junior Better Fishing King and Queen have been announced by Better Fishing, Inc., a non-profit organization educating youth in the fundamentals of fishing, sportsmanship, and conservation.

They are David Ovall of (741 West 10th street,) Los Angeles, and Noreen Westby of (1625 Central avenue,) Alameda.

The "fun-while-learning" national fishing program for children is active in 448 communities in the United States and Alaska.

Gloomy Forecast

SAN FRANCISCO — The California sardine industry, once the richest fishery on the west coast and now in the middle of what appears to be the most disastrous season in its history, faces at least one more season equally bad, California fisheries experts revealed at the November meeting of the state's Marine Research Committee.

This gloomy forecast was among the conclusions reached by participants in the California Cooperative Sardine Research Program as they reviewed work accomplished between January 1, 1951, and July 1, 1952. If the sardine industry depends on the sardine alone, it must subsist for the next two seasons on the smallest catches in a generation, scientists asserted. The only hope for improvement in the 1952-53 and 1953-54 seasons is an unexpected increase in the catch of older sardines.

Checking the sardine population by the year the fish were hatched, the fisheries advisors report that only the 1948 year-class offers much hope. The 1949 class is about one-sixth the size of the 1948 class, while 1950 and 1951 classes are only slightly better than the 1949 year-class.

The poor seasonal catch prediction has already been partially borne out. The total state-wide catch through Nov. 9 was 1,829 tons. At the same time last year, 98,854 tons had been caught in what was considered a very poor haul. Sardines today are being caught only incidentally to catches of mackerel and jack mackerel.

Agencies participating in the sardine research program are the California Academy of Sciences, the California Department of Fish and Game, Hopkins Marine Station of Stanford University, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

The Academy of Sciences is studying sardine behavior, while the Hopkins Marine Station is looking into oceanography of the Monterey area. The Scripps Institution's share of the program is the study of oceanography of the Pacific Coast and investigations of the food habits of sardines.

The Department of Fish and Game and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service are studying eggs and larvae of the sardine, the numbers of young fish in the coastal waters, and statistics of the commercial catch.

The report compares the sardine situation today with its status in more prosperous periods. It shows the restriction of recent sardine catches to the Southern California area, where in 1950-51 the largest local tonnage in history was brought in. The season was followed by the very poor one of 1951-52, and the current apparently disastrous season.

Most of the sardine spawning today, the report discloses, is occuring off Baja California, particularly off Cedros Island, about halfway down the coast.

Experts hesitate to lay the blame for the decline of the sardine catch on any one factor, agreeing that more work has to be done before arriving at definite answers about the sardine's future.

Copies of the full report are available without charge from the Marine Research Committee, Terminal Island Station, San Pedro, California.

Sportsmanship Trophy Goes to South City

Sportsmanship trophy for the big game between Jefferson and South San Francisco went to the South San Franciscans this year.

The trophy, offered by the Lions club, is given on basis of spirit of rooting sections, conduct of students and other factors such as marking or destruction of property.

Four Lions, two from Daly City and a like number from South San Francisco, as well as the student body presidents of both schools were the judges. The nod was given to South San Francisco, 4-2.

Grid Season Ends; Jeff Drops Fourth

INDIANS DROP THANKSGIVING DAY CLASSIC, 14-0; FUMBLES RUINOUS

Thanksgiving started on a sour note for Jefferson high's gridders last week as they were plucked clean by South San Francisco's Warriors, 14-0.

The loss, which gave the Indians a three win, four defeat mark for the league season, could be credited directly to the fumbling department in the statistics book.

The Jeffs looked good everywhere else on the book, gaining a total net yardage of 273 to 253 for the South City squad, but four fumbles at particularly inopportune moments in the contest gave the Warriors the nod.

Opening Drive

Starting off from their own goal line the Indians opened the game with a 95-yard drive, only to fumble a scant few feet from pay dirt.

That wasn't the only time the Jeffs knocked on the door of opportunity. In the second period they were within the four-yard line. In the second half they had the ball deep in Warrior territory twice, but fumbles and intercepted Jeff passes gave the South City team the margin of advantage they needed.

First Score

The South San Franciscans scored in the third quarter when fullback Jim Cherry broke loose around left end. Cherry lowered the boom on the Jeffs again in the fourth period on a 60-yard scurry.

The locals gained a net of 146 yards on the ground as compared with 246 for the Warriors. In the aerial department, Jeff quarterback Ray Rosa attempted 18 passes, completing eight, while the opposition hit only once out of seven tries.

Rosa's passes went for a total of 127 yards, while the Warriors' sole completion was good for seven yards.

The Indians outdistanced their traditional rivals in first downs also, getting 14 to 11 for South City.

The Warriors were penalized seven times but the Jeffs got off with only one.

Individual Statistics

Individual statistics showed Nick Bockwinkel gaining 66 yards in 15 tries; Wally Honeywell 34 yards in 4 tries; Mario Leveroni 15 yards in five tries; Russell Patterson 27 yards in seven tries.

Honeywell also caught two passes which were good for 34 yards, giving him a total of 68 yards gained for the day's play.

End Bill Butler snagged four passes and went for 69 yards. Chuck Carroll took in two that were good for a total of 24 yards.

Central Club Hangs On To Lead; Top Bowler Lost for Six Weeks

Central Club still held a slim margin on first place in the Daly City Colma bowling league after the 12th week of competition held Tuesday night but their chances in the stretch will be hampered by loss of their top bowler, Babe De Luca.

De Luca, who leads the entire league with a 184 average, sprained his wrist while bowling and will be lost to the Central Club squad for six weeks.

Central Club took two games from Vince and Fred's and now have 25 wins, 11 losses.

In second spot is Hilltop Cab with a 24-12 record after taking a pair from Kirchhubels Tuesday.

Russ Sperry, who bowls for the lowly San Bruno Lions, swept high individual series and game in Tuesday night's bowling.

Sperry hit a 230 game and 580 series.

High team game and high team series were claimed by Hilltop Cab with 960 and 2682, respectively.

"Strike A Match" Opens December 9 At The U. N. Theatre

Mel Ferrer directs and Pat O'Brien, Eva Gabor, Richard Egan and Tom Brown top the cast of "Strike A Match," which opens at the United Nations Theatre Tuesday evening, Dec. 9.

The distinguished quintet will appear for a limited two week engagement only.

"Strike A Match" is a new play written by Robert Smith. The setting is a little bar where lonely characters come in out of the cold, lonely winter world to be greeted by a bartender (Pat O'Brien) who is unhappy with the human race.

Miss Gabor plays the part of a woman who is in love with Val (Richard Egan), who had a great talent before it went through his fingers like quicksilver and he wound up in a jam.

Tom Brown appears as Scofield, first of a series of characters who come into the place for divergent reasons ranging from getting "stinko" to picking up a girl.

Tickets are now on sale at popular prices, and mail orders are being filled in the order of their receipt. "The Second Man," starring Franchot Tone leaves the U. N. Sunday evening, Dec. 7.

SAN MATEANS OPEN BASKETBALL SEASON

San Mateo Junior college, with four veteran basketball players on its squad, will open its basketball season tonight at Vallejo college. The Mateans have a 22-game season ahead of them, including 12 conference tilts and games with the Stanford Braves and the California Blues. The first home game will be with Marin college Dec. 12.

SIX-DAY BIKE RACES OPEN SUNDAY NIGHT

Six-day racing comes back to San Francisco next Sunday evening when Grand Championship International Six-Day Bike Race opens at the Civic Auditorium.

Johnny Olzsowski, famed California All-American, will fire the starting gun that will send the field on their way in the merry chase. The racers will go 'round and 'round the 55-degree banked track each night next week from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m.

Managing director Murphy Sabatino also announced that a special preview of the races, probably a half-hour, or one-hour race, will be held for the public Saturday night at approximately 9 p.m. "This will be free to the public," said Sabatino, "and will give the fans a chance to see what the six-day races have in the way of thrills, spills, and entertainment."

Pleads Not Guilty

Francis H. Willis, 25, of 310 Taylor boulevard, Millbrae, went on trial in Federal court Wednesday on charges that he took $2000 from the Federal Reserve bank where he had ben a teller.

Assistant United States attorney Robert Peckham told a jury of seven men and five women in the court of Judge Dal M. Lemmon that Willis took the money while preparing a shipment of $736,000 to be sent from San Francsco to a bank in Pittsburg in November, 1950.

Willis was indicted in September fo this year after a long investigation by FBI agents.

He has steadfastly pleaded his innocence.

The Amazon river, which flows from glacier-fed lakes in Peru to the Atlantic ocean, is about 3900 miles long.

SPORTSMAN'S CALENDAR

The Department of Fish and Game reminds California sportsmen of the following general regulations which apply to current hunting and fishing:

BEARS — Ends Dec. 31. Bag limit: 2 bears per season.

PHEASANTS — Nov. 22 to Dec. 1. Bag limit: 10 male birds per season, 2 per day. In the counties of San Benito, Kern and San Bernardino, and counties south, the daily bag may include one female pheasant. Shooting hours: 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in all counties north of San Luis Obispo, Kern and San Bernardino; one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset elsewhere.

QUAIL—Nov. 1 to Dec. 31 in Humboldt, Del Norte, Sonoma, Mendocino and Marin counties. Opens Nov. 22 elsewhere. Bag and possession limit: 8 birds.

SIERRA HARES—Nov. 22 to Dec. 31 in Inyo and Mono counties only. Bag and possession limits: 2 per day.

TREE SQUIRRELS — Nov. 22 to Dec. 31 in specified central and northern California areas. Bag limit: 2 per day.

DUCKS, GEESE, WATERFOWL — Ends Jan. 1. Daily bag and possession limits: 6 ducks and 2 widgeons or 2 pintails or 1 of each; 6 geese but not more than 2 birds of the dark species; 3 black sea brant; 15 coots; 25 mergansers. Shooting hours: one-half hour before sunrise to one hour before sunset.

TROUT—No closed season in Colorado river area. Closed elsewhere. Bag and possession limits: 10 in Colorado river area.

AVERAGE CATCH

The average catch was 3.6 fish per day for California's 126,000 ocean anglers who put to sea in the 432 party fishing boats which operated during August, the Department of Fish and Games reports.

The aggregate monthly bag included 109,000 rockfish, 105,000 albacore, 84,000 barracuda and 9,400 salmon, among other species.

Gators Place Two Men on Little All Coast Eleven

Coach Joe Verducci's San Francisco Staters had good representation on the United Press little all-coast team chosen earlier this week.

The Gators landed Merrill Jacobs in the first string left end position and Maurie Duncan claimed the quarterback spot on the No. 1 little all-coast squad.

The San Franciscans placed second only to Fresno State college, which placed three gridders on the '52 team.

The Bulldog selections tto the first team were Ledio Sanucci, tackle, Don Whitaker, guard, and hard-running Larry Willoughby at the left half spot.

Cal Poly also placed two men to equal San Francisco's honors.

The backfield for the mythical team was as follows: Willoughby, left half; Alex Bravo of Cal Poly, right half; Duncan, quarterback, and Bob Morford of College of Idaho in the fullback slot.

The Gators O'Shea made the second team at the fullback position.

ITEMS ARE NEEDED TO RAISE FUNDS FOR CHRISTMAS BASKETS

Needy families in the area will spend a happier Christmas if the project sponsored by the St. Vincent De Paul society is a success.

The society is holding a drive to obtain toys for children of needy families and food baskets for the families on Christmas day.

All persons having old clothes, toys, furniture or other items not needed may help the cause by bringing them to 6725 Mission or calling PL. 5-4346 and notifying the organization where the donations may be picked up.

Contributions will be placed on sale in an effort to accumulate the five or six hundred dollars needed to purchase the baskets. The group will also seek to provide each needy child with a toy.

Foul Language Costs $50, Suspended Term

For allegedly using foul language before Edith James, waitress at 6286 Mission, Edward Dugan was fined $50 in Judge William Sweeney's Justice court Wednesday.

Dugan pled guilty and was also given a 25 day suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for one year, the terms being that he refrain from entering Hilltop restaurants for that period.

Couple To Observe Golden Wedding Date On December 14th

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Mars, managers of the Palomar Stables, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, December 14.

To commemorate the date the couple will go through the marriage ceremony again at the Nazarene church, 101 Vista Grande.

The couple have lived here for the past eight years.

Many Fires Are Result of Hazards Which Exist Only During the Holiday Season

Every year, from a few days before Christmas to the week following New Year's, a plague of fires rages up and down the country. Many of these fires are the result of hazards which exist only during the holiday season; of carelessness that would not be tolerated at any other time, Christmas is truly a red-letter day for fire.

Your Christmas Tree

Pretty though it is, as your Christmas tree dries out, it becomes more of a prime target for fire every hour it's in the house. Therefore, bring in a fresh tree, as short a time before Christmas as possible and get it outside as soon afterwards as you can. The larger the tree, the greater the hazard, so don't get any larger one than you need. While the tree is in the house you can reduce its flame-ability by setting it in water. Cut off the base of the tree at an angle, at least one inch above the original cut and rest it in a well-filled tub of water. This method when used with fresh trees reduces the fammability as effectively as any fireproofing chemicals.

Your tree should be well supported, away from sources of heat (fireplaces, radiators, television sets, etc.) and so placed that, standing or fallen, it cannot block exits in case of fire.

Your Christmas Lighting

Candle flames invite fire: electrict lights are just as attractive and a lot safer although they are by no means "foolproof." From a decorative standpoint a colored spotlight, focused on the tree, is very efective and safest of all. Use only lighting sets that bear the UL (Underwriters Laboratories) lebal. Check lighting sets each year before using, for frayed wires, loose connections, and broken sockets. Be sure your circuits are not overloaded for fires may start in walls. If your fuses are of proper rating, too many lights will blow them. If this happens, eliminate some of the lights and replace the blown fuse with a new one of proper size and rating. If any extensive holiday wiring is indicated call a competent electrician—don't try to do it yourself. Be sure that any light bulbs are not too near combustibles. Make certain that al lilghting is turned off before retiring or leaving house.

Your fireplace is almost sure to be used constantly during the holidays: Guard against flying sparks with a substantial screen and don't use the fireplace to burn up Christmas wrappings and decorations.

Smashed Window Costs San Francisco Man $25

Robert Allen Werzy, 345 Holyyoke, San Francisco, pled guilty in Judge William Sweeney's Justice court Wednesday to charges of disturbing the peace.

Werzy was picked up by local police Sunday night after smashing his fist through a car window of Hillcrest and Mission. Residents had also complained that Werzy was conducting himself offensively in the area.

He was also given a 10 day suspended jail sentence.

Public's Help Asked In Drive To Reduce Traffic Fatalities

The California Highway Patrol today asked the public's help in a December drive to "actually reduce traffic deaths, not just talk about it."

Patrol Commissioner Clifford E. Peterson said he hoped any public indifference to the traffic toll would be lessened during the holiday season.

"People seem to be more responsive to humanitarian and sentimental appeals this time of year," he said, "and that's what we're banking on."

Peterson declared the patrol would do its part in the life-saving program by staging traffic checks, handing out safety literature and stepping up enforcement activity.

Last December 322 persons died in traffic accidents throughout the state.

"Just a single life saved this year will be worth any extra effort," Peterson said, adding that the toll could be materially reduced if every motorist and pedestrian would accept personal responsibility for his or her own safety.

As a positive step for drivers to take, Peterson suggested that they tighten up on their driving habits and obey all traffic laws.

"Year after year," he said, "our records show that in more than nine out of ten cases, Californians are being killed and injured in traffic because someone violates a law."

Harry James Performs At Bay Meadows On Saturday, December 6

When Harry James and his Music Makers play for a dance at Bay Meadows Saturday night, Dec. 6, it will mark one of the few instances for the nation's number one trumpeter to make a public appearance outside of Hollywood this year.

After touring the country earlier in his career, Harry has settled down and now owns a ranch in San Fernando Valley and a home in Beverly Hills.

He confines most of his professional engagements to movie and television work and recording for Columbia, in order to spend his leisure time at one of his homes with his wife, Betty Grable of the films, and their two daughters, Victoria and Jessica.

James is being brought to San Mateo by William P. Kyne, Bay Meadows general manager, to provide peninsula residents an opportunity to dance to a big name band without have far to travel. The beautiful and spacious club house at Bay Meadows is being elaborately decorated for the occasion and can accommodate 3000 persons.

In addition to current hits, James will play several of the old numbers that helped make him famous. These include "You Made Me Love You," "Ciri Ciri Bin," "I've Heard That Song Before," "I'm Beginning To See The Light" and "Sleepy Lagoon."

Auto Tampering Charge Costs Colma Man $50

Thomas P. Dee, 32, of Colma, and Robert E. Cutter, 27 of Belmont, both auto mechanics, pleaded guilty to charges of tampering with a vehicle and were fined $50 each in South San Francisco's city court last week.

While allegedly working on an automobile owned by William Welding of 437 Beach avenue they were picked up and arrested by police. The auto was parked at Third lane and Linden avenue.

Announce Completion of Colma Bank's Building Expansion

OFFICIAL COMPLETION of Bank of America's Colma branch will be observed Tuesday. Additions shown in above picture were installed at a cost of $106,792. Limits of original structure ended in line with door at right. Large addition in rear has increased floor space of the building from 1640 square feet to 4335 square feet. Besides increasing the size of the lobby many other improvements have been made in the building. Greatly increased demand for service in the Colma area made the enlargment project necessary, according to J. Ferrari, branch manager.

COLMA BANK BUILDING PROGRAM IS COMPLETE; OPEN HOUSE TO BE HELD

Completion of the building expansion program of Bank of America's Colma branch will be observed Tuesday, Dec. 9, with open house ceremonies, branch manager J. Ferrari announced today. The open house will be held between the hours of 5:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

Ferrari invited the public to inspect the large premises of the bank at this time. Completed today at a cost of $106,792, this latest improvement to the Colma business district is impressive in appearance and stylish in design.

A large addition has been constructed on the rear of the original building and floor space has been increased from 1,640 square feet to 4,335 square feet. The building's exterior has been completely done over and the lobby interior has been redecorated and improved in many ways.

Where the public was formerly served by six teller windows, there are now eleven windows. Space has been arranged for two loan ofifcer desks, which makes capacity of the officer platform four desks.

In increasing the size of the lobby to more than four times its former area many modern improvements have been incorporated, these include accoustical ceiling, asphalt tile floors, slimline flourescent lighting and new furniture and fixtures. The bank has a complete new heating and air conditioning plant.

A new vault has been installed, providing for approximately 1,000 safe deposit boxes, according to Ferrari.

The branch manager said that a greatly increased demand for Bank of America service in the Colma area made necessary the enlargement project. Colma branch is located at the gore of Mission and Reiner streets and San Pedro road.

INVESTITURE FOR GIRL SCOUT TROOP

Intermediate Girl Scout troop No. 149 invested their new members on Nov. 26 in the patio at the home of Mrs. J. Spinetti, 57 Muirwood drive.

The new girls invested were: Sharon Durbin, Carole Doyle, Santa Fernandeziss, Barbara Hansen, Linda McCowen, Betty Olsen, Carol Robertson, and Martha Yahraes.

Present was Mrs. Robert Morgan to assist and present the girls for their pins. This was her last service to the Daly City Girl Scouts as she is moving down the peninsula.

The program consisted of: salute to the flag, star spangled banner, presentation of girl scout pins, girl scout laws, pep talk by Mrs. Morgan, Girl Scout song, presentation of flowers to Mrs. A. Lyon of the Crocker PTA.

The presentation made to Mrs. Lyon was more than 100 waxed flowers made by the girls for the Crocker PTA bazaar, as part of their activity.

Following the meeting was a wiener roast with all trimmings. The girls cooked their own hot dogs and roasted marshmellows.

The party was climaxed with a song session around the fire place.

All the mothers were invited and it was reported that a good time was had by all.

Rosary was recited Monday evening.

Burial was at Golden Gate National cemetery.

Colma Prepares Welcome to Druids

Spearheaded by the Noble Grand Arch, Earl Leslie Roberts, and Grand Secretary Joseph Memeo of the United Ancient Order of Druids of California, and supported by many of the leaders of the order, an official visit is to be paid to the local grove, designated as Olive grove No. 116, on the evening of Dec. 5.

Colma Reception

Many of the leading citizens of Colma who are members of the Olive grove are preparing a gala reception in honor of the Noble Grand Arch, Earl Leslie Roberts,

Earl Leslie Roberts

Joseph Memeo

and his corps of splendid officers. It will be held at Colombo hall in Colma; and many of the Past Noble Grand Arches will be present to welcome the state officers, together with the officers of Olive grove No. 116, including Noble Arch F. Lagomarsino, Vice Arch Charlie Shaw, Recording Secretary Albert Garibaldi, and Treasurer George Lagomarsino. Other officers are Fred Bauer and William Heinzle, Jr., and David Arata and District Deputy Vic DeMattei.

Social Committee

The Social Committee consists of N. Leonoudakis, Albert Garibaldi, V. DeMattei, F. Lagomarsino, M. Gena, J. Busino, and C. Shaw. Several of the county officials will participate in the reception of the Noble Arch, and a large police-escort with a motorcade will escort the Noble Grand Arch Earl Leslie Roberts from the San Francisco county line at Mission and Sickels avenue to Colombo hall.

The Olive Grove No. 116 is now in its fifty-third year of existence, being instituted in October, 1899.

The United Ancient Order of Druids is of British conception and is the oldest fraternal order in the country.

California. The following program will be stressed:

1. Reaffirmation of our faith to the principles of our nation, and due reverence to the flag of our world, claiming existence 6,000 years before the Christian era. The first grove in California was instituted in Hangtown, now known as Placerville, in 1859, and this grove is still active.

Noble Grand Arch Earl Leslie Roberts will submit a four-point program to the local grove to stimulate and inspire fraternal conscience throughout the State of

2. Establishment of a blood bank to assist our national effort and to become active in civilian defense.

3. Participation in all civic affairs.

4. Protection of widows and orphans.

Grand Secretary Joseph Memeo, an outstanding speaker, will cover two subjects, namely:

1. Evils and dangers of Communism.

2. The necessity of fraternalism to insure peace.

Use of Freedom

Grand Secretary Joseph Memeo states: "I wonder if all of us realize how many great privileges of freedom we use every day, taking them for granted, not attempting to think that every one of them has been fought for and won; and every one of them must be continuously re-fought for and re-won because eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. We as Americans must never forget it, if we truly join with the great Abraham Lincoln in his prayer, "that this nation under God shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Darkness of Ignorance

"The light of Druidism will destroy the darkness of ignorance and sunperstition of Communism and will unite men together for purposes of mutual protection against those subversive dangers. We Druids are Americans first, last and always."

Judge John R. Flor will discuss the subjects of the state blood bank and the state scholarship fund.

Christmas Seal funds support the tuberculosis prevent and control projects of 3,000 local and state associations affiliated with the National Tuberculosis Association.

Eagles Aerie, Auxiliary Welcome All to Bazaar

Once again the Eagles Aerie and Auxiliary welcome all to the Children's Christmas Party on Sunday, December 21, 1952, from 1 until 5 o'clock.

Santa Claus and his helpers will be there with a present for each child-then entertainment-and to top off the afternoon-candy-oranges-apples-and ice cream.

On Saturday Night, December 20, 1952, the night before the Children's Christmas Party, the usual Social Night and Dance will be held. Five turkeys will be given away.

Music is furnished by the Group's own orchestra.

James L. Hatchel Aboard USS Orleck

Serving aboard the destroyer USS Orleck is James L. Hatchel, radioman seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil B. Hatchel of 114 East Vista avenue, Daly City.

Hatchel, who was graduated from Jefferson Union high school in 1951, was recalled to active duty in Sept., 1951.

The Orleck has been nicknamed the "train destroyer" for the complete destruction of two Communist ammunition trains with its five-inch guns.

The "train destroyer" is one her second tour of duty in the Far East and has served as a unit of Blockade Task Force 95, the Formosan patrol, and with Hunter-Killer forces.

Turning that steering wheel suddenly is one of the surest ways to get yourself caught in a front wheel skid during rainy weather, warns the National Automobile Club.
